Important Information

Performance calculations are blithely offered as if they were the final and single result of a stock's or portfolio's gain over an arbitrary time period. Alas, there are many variables that may not be obvious but ought to be carefully considered for a more accurate accounting.

Tax considerations are usually important to most investors but are rarely notes in "total return performance" percentages. One portfolio gains 20% a year but "turns over" 100% each year generating short-term gains taxed at high rates of 39% or more. Another portfolio holds shares for several years, so most of its returns are long term capital gains taxed at 20%.

Year after year, the long-term portfolio's gains are taxed less frequently and at lower rates so there is more after-tax capital gains remaining to reinvest, resulting in a significantly higher after-tax return, even though each portfolio showed 20% appreciation each year. Also, there are fewer trading costs taking their toll on gains.

It should not be assumed that recommendations made in the future will be profitable or will equal the performance of the securities in these lists.
